THE PIG-SKIN.

Field in a game of foot-ball that for en-thusiasin and hard work has been seldom equalled and seldom, if ever, surpassed. It was a game for blood from the toss of the copper to the calling of time at the end of the second half. It was a game that practically brought a victory to Pennsylvania colors, though the cold, hard score said it was a defeat. But the Quakers point to that score and the work of their men and remark as they do so that it is about time they were given oredit for knowing something about foot-ball.

The score was: Yale, 14; University of

A GREAT GAME.

No game ever approached the annual Thanksgiving-Day struggle in the interest shown and in the crowds that gathered as to-day's did. It was, to begin with, an ideal foot-ball day. The sun came out in warmth and splendor. The field was a beautiful stretch of ground, with its whitewashed lines glistening in the sunlight. The crowd that grew in extent till it approached 15,000 in numbers began to flow in early. On the bluft surrounding the field there were fully 5,000 or more, and on every housetop was a binck mass of

The college-men were everywhere in evidence. Pennsylvania turned out strong. Some one had said that nearly half the college would be there, and he was not far astray in his language. They occupied two of the bleachers, and their yells went further than the annexed district.

A GREAT HOWL.

No such howl had ever before gone up from a foot-ball field when Knipe made a touch-down for Pennsylvania, in the second half. The crowd went wild, and the stands were one big sheet of red and blue. That part of the crowd which at the beginning of the game had no particular favorite lent its sympathy to the Quakers after the grand fight they made, and all joined in one wild cry Pennsylvania and some control of the control Anthony stirred up the runproved his position at every

KNIPE'S PERFORMANCE.

The ball had been forced with startling The ball had been forced with starting rapidity down into Yale's territory after the latter had made a touch-down in the second half. nd scored. For Yale Butterworth won by supreme playing in the latter part of the game. He bucked at Pennsylvania's centre like a torpedo, and seldom falled to make a gain. At punting he was not so successful as Brooke. Thorne gladdened the hearts of the rooters for the blue by his hearts of the rooters for the blue by his exhibition of form. Hinkey was pounded most unimercifully. The Pennsylvania people consider him a rough player, and on many occasions he was the redpient of some bard slugging. At one time Captain Mackey sneered to Hinkey that he was playing a "dirty game," and those in the Vicinity thought a fight would be precipitated. Cooler heads preyented ft, however.

LIBERAL DANGER POINTS

and the Budget-Irish Disaffection-European Notes.

opyright, 1893, by the United Press.) LONDON, November 11.-The arranging of the programme for the annual erence of the Conservative National Union was only finished last night. As finally announced, it presents nothing new. It avoids making any declaration on the quesiton of electoral reform; the disestablishment of the Church in Wales, or other political issues on which it would be dangerous to commit the party. Lord Dunraven, who, besides being a genuine sportsman, takes rather great interest in the success of the Conservatives, will preside at the conference, and Lord Salisbury will make a speech. On the second day, Sir Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett, who sits in Parliament for one of the Sheffield divisions, will move the adoption of a resolution approving the rejection by the House of Lords of the home-rule bill, wifich, it is scarcely necessary to state, will be unanimously adopted.

Sir Albert Kaye Rollitt, who represents the South Division of Islington in the House of Commons, will speak in favor of boards of arbitration for the settlement of trades disputes. Mr. Arthur Hugh Smith-Barry, representative in Parliament of the South Division of Huntingdon, will call the attention of the conference to the time wasted by Parliament in discussing a probable home-rule bill.

Among the more prominent resolutions to be submitted will be one affirming that Great Britain is suffering from the abject submission of Parliament to the demands of Irish demagogues.

Viewed as a whole, no emptier programme was ever submitted to a great party-caucus. It is significant that nothing is said in the programme about forcing the dissolution of Parliament.

GOVERNMENTAL DANGER-POINTS GOVERNMENTAL DANGER-POINTS.

The Conservative cue now being followed by the press and on the platform represents the government as certain to be ousted at the next session, either on the Ministry's providing for disestablishment of the Church in Wales or in the budget. It is an undoubted fact that unless the Anti-Parnellite section of the Irish Parliamentary party gives the government unrelaxed support during the divisions on the disestablishment bill, Mr. Gladstone and his ministry will be compelled to resign.

The budget, too, will prove a point of danger. The trade of Great Britian is so depressed and the customs-receipts are so diminished, while the expenditures are not lessened, that an enormous deficit will stare the government in the face. The only possible solution of the financial question will be the imposition of fresh taxation, and this will, of course, make the budget unpopular.

Private representations made by the Irish leaders to Gladstone and Morley on the difficulties of their position receive a sympathetic but not a practical response. The strong element in the Cabinet opposed to Morley triumphs for a time, but it requires little gift as a political prophet to foretell that the future contains dangers to the present administration that it will tax all the resourceful energies of Gladtax all the resourceful energies of Glad MALAGA, November 11.-Advices received here from Melilla show that an envoy from the Sultan, sent, it is said, to order the Riffians to desist from their warfare on the Spaniards under penalty of having the Sultan seril an army against them, instead of carrying out the orders intrusted to him, procured an interview with General Macias, commander of the Spanish troops, and proposed that an eight-days' truce be established. This proposition was almost identical with the one made by the Riffian leaders, but coming as it did from the Sultan, General Macias agreed to accept it on condition that the Sultan send hostages to Mellia to guarantee his good faith. No hostages being forthcoming, firing was continued of having the Sultan seill an army against forthcoming, firing was continu on the Rifflans.

The New York and Brazil. The New York and Brazil.

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, November II.—There was a rumor about the Navy Department this afternoon that the cruiser New York would be sent to Brazil as soon as the necessary changes can be made in her gun circlers. The rumor could not be confirmed, and prohably had its origin in a desire of the department to send the ship on a short cruise, and the fact that the Navy Department was in receipt of a long cipher dispatch from Brazil, which had not been made public, and therefore was assumed to be of a disturbing character.

It was after to o'clock to-night when the steamer Mascotte arrived here from Havana, and the news that she brought was not very encouraging to the insurrectionists here. It appears that General Esquierra and his followers are the ones who have created all the recent disturbances on the island. He is now at large and the Spanish authorities think that they have him located and that it is only a question of time when they will have him under arrest.

Quite a number of arrests have been made by the Spanish police. The Board of Cemmissioners in Nueva sided against the insurrectionists and offered the government to pay the costs of prosecution against the insurgents gave themselves up to the Spanish authorities on the 8th instant. The three principal leaders are Guevede, Equierra, and Caldosa.

The Cubans in Key West have felt quite confident until now that victory would be the outcome of this, the latest insurrection, and have been having a grand time in anticipation of a general uprising on the Island of Cuba. A WET BLANKET.

this morning, arrived here at 2:30 this morning, thirty-five minutes late.

The story told by the conductor is that five robbers boarded the train when it stopped at Bardwell, two of them climbing on the engine and three boarding the end of the baggage- and express-car. They ordered the train to be stopped at once. Fireman Butler (colored) became frightened, and jumped from the train as it slowed up. One of the robbers fired at Engineer Richard Clark, but shot wide of his mark. Conductor Charles Shearin and Express-messenger E. B. McNett made a stand, but they could do nothing in the face of loaded guns. Conductor Shearin fired on the robbers, but hit none. As soon as the train stopped the robbers entered the express-car at the point of their pistols, securing 52 in cash and a sealed package containing 57,000. The passengers were not molested, but many of them were badly frightened.

The rultroad and express companies jointly have offered a reward of $1,000 for the capture of the robbers.

GUNS FOR PEIXOTO. El Cld. (By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

(By telegraph to the Dispatch.)

Naw Yoar, November 11.—The Brazilian government has purchased a large quantity of arms in France, and these arms arrived here to-day on the steamship La Touraine. The consignment comprises nearly 200 cases of guns to the Hotehkiss Arms Company. One of the officials of this company appeared to-day at the custom-house for an "immediate permit" to transfer the guns to the steamship El Od, purchased for the Brazilian government by Flint & Co., and which is now being fitted up as a dynamite cruiser. The permit was at first refused, but after sufficient proof had been submitted to the Collector that the arms were for the Brazilian government and not for Mello, the demand was complied with. The guns will be transferred to El Cid to-night, and it is said that by the time they are put on board of her her armament will be complete and she will be ready to sail.

Yellow-Fever Report.

The disinfecting-car has been ordered back from Jesup to Camp Detention. Had it remained at Jesup, Camp Detention would have been practically abolished, as no arrangement would have left to disinfect persons passing through. The manner in which Jesup and Brunswick will be disinfected is not settled.

In Brunswick the citizens will seriously object to the wholesale methods supposed to be decided on by the government in seizing all houses and putting them and their contents through a severe process of fumigation without redemption assurances. While Brunswickians desire to aid the government in preventing the reaid the government is preventing the re-turn of yellow-fever here next summer, they will demand proper recognition of their rights as citizens. Efforts are being made to avoid any conflict, and with proper reorganization of the municipal powers such ends will be attained.
